5. In your view, what are the five most salient factors that affected the outcome of the election (e.g. major scandals; economic events; the presence of an "independent actor," specific issues)?

1. Sub-ethnic identity: Chinese vs. Taiwanese (Mainlander vs. Taiwanese)
2. National identity: unification vs. Taiwanese independence
3. Anti-money politics (Anti-corruption)
4. Lee Teng-hui's leadership: pro-Lee or anti-Lee
5. Political stability: pro-stability vs. pro-change
6. Electoral Alliances

Sometimes, electoral alliances are made at the constituency level as, for example, in Finland. Documenting who is allied with whom, and how, in each constituency is a large task and we do not expect you to do more than make some general reference to the existence of constituency-level alliances. Sometimes, electoral alliances are made at the national level -- these are the alliances that we would like you will identify. Information is sought on who is allied with whom and on the nature of the electoral alliance.

a) Were electoral alliances permitted during the election campaign?
   Yes ___ No ___

b) (If yes) Did any electoral alliances form?
   Yes ___ No ___

c) (If yes to b) List the party alliances that formed:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>

7. (If a presidential election was held concurrently with the legislative elections) List presidential candidates

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

*or parties, if multiple endorsements are allowed.

8. If the national team plans to collect aggregate election returns (or constituency-level returns) please include these returns with the study materials provided when the data are archived.
Part II: Data on Electoral Institutions

A central theme in the Comparative Study of Electoral Systems concerns the impact of electoral institutions on voting behavior and election outcomes. In order to assess the impact of institutions properly, a necessary preliminary step is to obtain accurate information on those institutional arrangements. The purpose of this document is to describe the kind of information we are asking you to provide.

Overview of Information Needed

In most countries, the best source of the needed information is the electoral statute or code that currently governs lower house elections. If the text of the law is available in a variety of different languages, please send a version in the most accessible language available. In any event, please also provide full bibliographic information on the source of the information sent.

In a few countries, such as the U.K., there may not be a single statute that governs elections. In such cases, our hope is that you will do your best to provide an accurate description of the electoral system in response to the detailed questions described below.

For those countries in which there is an electoral statute, there may also be other sources of information on the electoral procedure that you know of: perhaps the constitution specifies part of the electoral system, or perhaps a local scholar has written a description of the electoral system, or perhaps there is a map of the electoral districts available. It would be helpful if these materials could be sent as well.

Details of Information Needed

The kinds of details that are needed are indicated by the following list of questions. If you are sending a copy of the electoral code, then there is no need to answer these questions separately. If you are not sending the electoral code, then these questions may help in deciding what to send.

I. QUESTIONS ABOUT ELECTORAL DISTRICTS.

Definitions: An electoral district is defined as a geographic area within which votes are counted and seats allocated. If a district cannot be partitioned into smaller districts within which votes are counted and seats allocated, it is called primary. If it can be partitioned into primary districts, and there is some transfer of votes and/or seats from the primary districts to the larger district, then the larger district is called secondary. If a district can be partitioned into secondary districts (again with some transfer of votes and/or seats), it is called tertiary.

In some electoral systems, there are electoral districts that are geographically nested but not otherwise related for purposes of seat allocation. In Lithuania, for example, there are 71 single-member districts that operate under a majority runoff system, and also a single nationwide district that operates under proportional representation (the largest remainders method with the Hare quota). Neither votes nor seats from the single-member districts transfer to the nationwide district, however. The two processes are entirely independent (with voters having one vote in each district). In this case, the nationwide district, although it contains the 71 single-member districts, is not considered to be secondary. It is primary. One might say that there are two segments to the electoral system in such cases.

1) How many segments (as just defined) are there in the electoral system?
   1 segment 1
   2 segments 2

   (See Attachment II and III for details)

For the first segment, please answer the following questions (questions 2 through 11):

2) How many primary electoral districts are there? 25

3) For each primary electoral district, how many members are elected from in that district? as few as 1 and as many as 19 under S\textsuperscript{3}NTV rule

4) How many secondary electoral districts are there? 3

5) How many tertiary electoral districts are there? None

II. QUESTIONS ABOUT VOTING.

6) Exactly how are votes cast by voters? One vote for candidate

   6a) How many votes do they or can they cast? one

   6b) Do they vote for candidates, for lists, or for both? (Explain) candidate only

7) Are the votes transferable? No

8) If more than one vote can be cast, can they be cumulated?

9) Are there any other features of voting that should be noted? (See Attachment II & II)

III. QUESTIONS ABOUT CONVERTING VOTES INTO SEATS.

10) Exactly how are votes converted into seats?

10a) Are there legally mandated thresholds that a party must exceed before it is eligible to receive seats? Yes If so, what is the threshold? 5% nationwide
10b) What electoral formula or formulas are used? ________________

11) If there are lists, are they closed, open, or flexible?
   closed
   flexible, but in practice virtually closed __ flexible __ flexible, but in practice virtually open __ open __

Definitions: A list is closed if the seats that are awarded to that list are always occupied by the candidates in order of their appearance on the list (i.e., if the list gets x seats then necessarily the top x names on the list get the seats). A list is open if the question of which candidates on the list get the seats that are awarded to the list is determined solely by the votes that each candidate receives. A list is flexible if it is neither closed nor open.

IV. QUESTIONS ABOUT THE POSSIBILITIES OF ELECTORAL ALLIANCE.

12) What are the possibilities of alliance in the system? ________________

12a) Can parties run joint lists? ____

12b) Is there apparentement or “linking” of lists? __________

12c) Can candidates run with the endorsement of more than one party? __________

12d) Do parties withdraw their lists or candidates in some constituencies, urging their supporters there to vote for an ally’s list or candidate?

12e) Other? ________________

Definitions: A joint list refers to one on which candidates of different parties run together. Apparentement refers to a legal agreement between two or more lists to pool their votes for the purposes of an initial seat allocation, with seats initially allocated to the alliance then reallocated to the lists in the alliance.

13) If joint lists are possible, are they subject to different regulations than single-party lists? For example, higher thresholds, different numbers of candidates that may appear on the list, etc.
14) If apparentement is possible, what lists can participate in such agreements?
   lists of the same party in the same constituency?  ____
   lists of the same party from different constituencies?  ____
   lists of different parties in the same constituency?  ____

15) If candidates can run with the endorsement of more than one party, is this reflected on the ballot?
   Yes, candidate's name appears once, together with the names of all supporting parties  ____
   Yes, candidate's name appears as many times as there are different parties endorsing him or her, each time with the name of the endorsing party  ____
   Yes, other (please explain)  ____________________________  ____
   No party endorsements are indicated on the ballot paper  ____
Part III: Data on Regime Type

Below are various questions about the type of regime—presidential, parliamentary, semi-presidential—in your country. There are two potential problems with these questions that should be noted at the outset. First, in some countries there may be a discrepancy between the de jure (or legal) situation and the de facto (or practical) situation. For example, in Great Britain the Queen still possesses a legal right to veto legislation, but this right has not been exercised since 1707. In the case of such obviously obsolete powers, please answer according to the de facto situation. Otherwise, describe the de jure situation. A second potential problem is that the questions may not be phrased optimally for the situation in your particular country. In such cases, please answer as best you can, providing some indication of the difficulties as you see them.
