6a2: How many country experts/national collaborators have assisted in the classification of parties on the above scale?

Just myself

6a3: We encourage collaborators to provide any further specific or relevant information (if applicable) regarding the above classifications which might help users of the data understand them to a greater extent. This information will be included in the CSES codebook. Please fill in below.

- The 5 Star Movement ostensibly classifies itself as "neither left, nor right", while in fact its platform contains policies that are both left and right, hence its positioning in the center.

- The League used to be a regional party until the previous election, it became an anti-immigration party in recent times (at the end of 2017 it changed the name from "Northern League" to just "League", to appeal to voters in the south as well), and in terms of left-right it is hardly distinguishable from Brothers of Italy.

- A general point: the left-right positions that I chose here take into account the issues of economic redistribution (where: the 5 Star Movement would be positioned slightly on the left, given the emphasis on what they call a "universal minimum income", which is in fact a more generous unemployment benefit; the League and Forza Italia would be positioned on the right, given their emphasis on introducing a "flat tax"; the Democratic Party would be positioned on the center-left, Free and Equal would be positioned on the left) and immigration (League + Brothers of Italy on the right, Democratic Party + Free and Equal on the left, and 5 Star slightly on the right).

- For context, on the right, a few name changes and party splits in the last 10 years deserve some explanation: in 2007, the parties Forza Italia (of the former prime minister Silvio Berlusconi) and National Alliance (heir of the far-right Italian Social Movement) merged into the People of Freedom (PDL). In 2012, some former member of National Alliance left the PDL to form Brothers of Italy. In 2013, Berlusconi re-formed Forza Italia, so the PDL as a party was extinguished. To a great extent, the current situation (Forza Italia and Brothers of Italy running as separate parties albeit in the same coalition) mirrors the pre-PDL arrangement (although, importantly, while Berlusconi remains the leader of Forza Italia, the current leader of Brothers of Italy is not the same old leader of National Alliance).

6c. Populist classification of parties: As Module 5 focuses in part on populism, please indicate the degree to which each of the parties (in the expert judgment of the CSES Collaborator) can be characterized as a populist party? Please use the same parties used in the CSES Module 5 respondent questionnaire and label them the same way (A-I). The definition of populism advanced by the Module 5 theme committee is below:

DEFINITION: Populism can be defined as a thin-centred ideology that pits a virtuous and homogeneous people against a set of elites and dangerous ‘others’ who are depicted as depriving “the people” of their rights, values, prosperity, identity, and voice. The emphasis on anti-elite/ anti-establishment rhetoric and the contrast between the “pure people” and the “corrupt elite” are thus indications of the degree to which a party is populist. Populist parties can be found across the left-right ideological spectrum. On a scale of 0 to 10, where 0 is “not at all populist” and 10 is “very populist”, where would you place each of the parties in your country?

6c2: How many country experts/national collaborators have assisted in the classification of parties on the above scale?
Just myself

6c3: We encourage collaborators to provide any further specific or relevant information (if applicable) regarding the above classifications which might help users of the data understand them to a greater extent. This information will be included in the CSES codebook. Please fill in below.

The 5 Star Movement is a textbook example of a populist party, given the definition above. The League uses populist tones, but conjugated in a more national-anthro-political sense (the emphasis on the interest of the "Italians") rather than in an anti-establishment sense (also because they have been part of the government with Berlusconi in the periods 1994-1995, 2001-2006, and 2008-2011. About Forza Italia, Berlusconi used a slightly populist narrative in the mid 1990s, however the party was more characterized as a conservative party.

C) SALIENT ISSUES IN THE ELECTION

7. In your view, what are the five most salient factors that affected the outcome of the election (e.g.: major scandals; economic events; the presence of an independent actor; specific issues)?

   Note: Please rank the issues according to their salience (1 = most salient).

   1. Immigration (conjugated more in terms of crime/security rather than cultural identity or economy, in particular the murder of Pamela Mastropietro at the end of January, the following shooting by Luca Traini, and the reactions of the political parties, boosted the salience of the issue right before the elections)

   2. Jobs (in particular work protection), Poverty

   3. Taxes/Social benefits (including retirement benefits)

   4. Europe (in particular the treaties about the distribution of migrants and asylum seekers, and the debt constraints given by Italy being Eurozone member)

F) ELECTORAL ALLIANCES

10. Joint Lists/Candidates
There are multiple types of electoral alliances/coalitions, but we are specifically interested in those involving joint lists or candidates - i.e. those where parties compete as a unit during the election.
Definitions: A joint list refers to one on which candidates of different parties run together. Apparentement refers to a legal agreement between two or more lists to pool their votes for the purposes of an initial seat allocation, with seats initially allocated to the alliance then reallocated to the lists in the alliance.

10a. Is this type of electoral coalition legally allowable?
[X] Yes
[ ] No

10b. Is this type of electoral coalition used in practice, even if not legally allowable?
[X] Yes
[ ] No

10c. If “Yes” was answered to either of the above questions, then please complete the following table for the election at which the Module was administered. Please mention only alliances that received at least 1% of the vote nationally. Add additional lines to the table as necessary.

<table>

11. If joint lists are possible, are they subject to different regulations than single-party lists? For example, higher thresholds, different numbers of candidates that may appear on the list, etc. (please mark all applicable responses)
   [X] Yes, joint party lists must satisfy higher thresholds
   [ ] Yes, joint party lists may present different numbers of candidates
   [ ] Yes, joint party lists are subject to other regulations that are different from the regulations governing independent parties; please specify: __________
   [ ] No, joint parties are governed by the same rules as the other parties
   [ ] Not applicable; no joint party lists are allowed

12a. Is there apparentement or linking of lists?
   [ ] Yes
   [X] No

12b. If apparentement is possible, what lists can participate in such agreements:
   [ ] lists of the same party in the same constituency
   [ ] lists of the same party from different constituencies
   [ ] lists of different parties in the same constituency

13a. Can candidates run with the endorsement of more than one party?
   [X] Yes
   [ ] No

13b. If candidates can run with the endorsement of more than one party, is this reflected on the ballot?
   [ ] No
   [ ] No party endorsements are indicated on the ballot paper
   [X] Yes, candidate's name appears once, together with the names of all supporting parties
   [ ] Yes, candidate's name appears as many times as there are different parties endorsing him/her, each time with the name of the endorsing party
   [ ] Yes, other; please explain: __________
G) ELECTORAL INSTITUTIONS
If possible, please supplement this section with copies of the electoral law, voters’ handbooks, electoral commission reports, and/or any other relevant materials.

Please note: Questions 15a through 21d must be repeated for each electoral tier (segment) of each directly elected house of the legislature.

Electoral Tier (Segment) and House
14a. In your answers for questions 15a through 21d, which electoral tier (segment) is being referred to?
Both the Lower House (Chamber of Deputies) and the Upper House (Senate) work with the same electoral rules.

14b. In your answers for questions 15a through 21d, which house is being referred to (lower or upper)? (Note: Countries with only one tier may skip this question.)
See above

Questions about Voting
15a. How many votes do voters cast or can cast? In systems where voters rank order the candidates, if there are 10 candidates (for example), the response to this question should be 10.
Voters could make a sign (1) on the district candidate's name, (2) on a party list supporting a district candidate, (3) on both the candidate's name and the party list supporting the candidate (split-ballots were not allowed)

15b. Do they vote for candidates (not party lists) or party lists? (Note: Collaborators may select multiple answers, if appropriate.)
(Definition: Party bloc voting is used in multi-member districts where voters cast a single party-centered vote for their party of choice; the party with the most votes wins all of the district seats.)
[X] Candidates
[X] Party Lists
[ ] Party Bloc Voting
[ ] Other; please explain: __________

15c. How many rounds of voting are there?
One
15d. If there are lists, are they closed, open, flexible, or is there party bloc voting?

[X] Closed (order of candidates elected is determined by the party and voters are unable to express preference for a particular candidate)

[ ] Open (voters can indicate their preferred party and their favored candidate within that party)

[ ] Flexible (voters can allocate votes to candidates either within a single party list or across different party lists as they see fit)

16. Are the votes transferable?

(Definition: In systems with preferential voting, a voter can express a list of preferences. E.g., votes can be cast by putting a '1' in the column next to the voter's preferred candidate, a '2' beside their second favorite candidate and so on. Votes are counted according to the first preferences and any candidates who have achieved the predetermined quota are elected. To decide which of the remaining candidates are elected the votes are transferred from candidates who have more than the necessary number to achieve the quota and from the candidate with the least number of votes. An example of this is the election in Ireland in 2002.)

[ ] Yes

[X] No

17. If more than one vote can be cast, can they be cumulated?

(Definition: Cumulative voting refers to systems in which voters are allowed to cast more than one vote for a single candidate.)

[ ] Yes

[X] No

18. Is voting compulsory?

(Definition: Voting is compulsory if the law states that all those who have the right to vote are obliged to exercise that right.)

[ ] Yes; Strictly Enforced Sanctions

[ ] Yes; Weakly Enforced Sanctions

[ ] Yes; Without Sanction for Violation

[X] No

19. Please list and describe any other features of voting that should be noted.

The "Rosato" law is a mixed-member majoritarian system consisting of two components. In the majoritarian component, accounting for about 1/3 of the seats, candidates supported by electoral coalitions (or single parties) competed in single member districts under plurality rule. The remaining 2/3 of the seats were distributed proportionally among parties according to the results at the national level. Each party symbol on the ballot came with a closed list of up to 4 candidates that could vary between larger pseudo-multi-member districts ("pseudo" because districts did not actually account for the seat distribution, which was based on national-level results, in this sense the candidate names for the multi-member districts can be regarded as a marketing tool).

In the proportional component, thresholds for obtaining seats are 3% for parties running alone, 10% for coalitions, and 1% for parties within coalitions).

Questions about Converting Votes into Seats

20a. Are there legally mandated thresholds that a party must exceed before it is eligible to receive seats?
   [X] Yes
   [ ] No

20b. If YES in Question 21a, what is the threshold?
   See explanation above

20c. If YES in Question 21a, what is the unit for the threshold mentioned in Question 21b?
   [ ] Percent of total votes
   [X] Percent of valid votes
   [ ] Percent of the total electorate
   [ ] Other; please explain: __________

20d. If YES in Question 21a, please specify to what House/ Electoral Tier (Segment) the threshold(s) apply.
   Both Lower and Upper House

Please repeat questions 15a through 21d for each electoral tier (segment) of each directly elected house of the legislature.
Countries with only one tier should proceed to Question 22.
