6a3: We encourage collaborators to provide any further specific or relevant information (if applicable) regarding the above classifications which might help users of the data understand them to a greater extent. This information will be included in the CSES codebook. Please fill in below.

Left-right dimension is correlated with other dimensions, such as intervention in the state and populism. There are more ideological parties, such as Perú Libre, Juntos por el Perú, Avanza País, Partido Morado, and Fuerza Popular. The rest of the parties are more ambiguous in this dimension and are located based on declarations of presidential candidates.

6b1. If you have asked respondents to rank political parties on an alternative dimension, other than the left-right dimension, please also provide your own rankings of the parties on this dimension. Please use the same parties that were used in the CSES Module 5 respondent questionnaire, and label them the same way (A-I).

Name of dimension: Role of the State in the Market

Label for 0 position: Economy with greater State intervention

Label for 10 position: Free Market Economy

Party Name

H. Podemos Perú We Can for the Progress of Peru (H)					X
I. Partido Morado Purple Party (I)							X

6b2: How many country experts/national collaborators have assisted in the classification of parties on the above scale? 2

6b3: We encourage collaborators to provide any further specific or relevant information (if applicable) regarding the above classifications which might help users of the data understand them to a greater extent. This information will be included in the CSES codebook. Please fill in below.

Podemos Perú, Acción Popular and Alianza para el Progreso are populist and catch-all parties that make ambiguous statements about market or state intervention. In general, they and their leaders support a social market economy. For this reason, we located these parties close to the middle of the scale.

6c. Populist classification of parties: As Module 5 focuses in part on populism, please indicate the degree to which each of the parties (in the expert judgment of the CSES Collaborator) can be characterized as a populist party? Please use the same parties used in the CSES Module 5 respondent questionnaire and label them the same way (A-I). The definition of populism advanced by the Module 5 theme committee is below:

DEFINITION: Populism can be defined as a thin-centred ideology that pits a virtuous and homogeneous people against a set of elites and dangerous ‘others’ who are depicted as depriving “the people” of their rights, values, prosperity, identity, and voice. The emphasis on anti-elite/anti-establishment rhetoric and the contrast between the “pure people” and the “corrupt elite” are thus indications of the degree to which a party is populist. Populist parties can be found across the left-right ideological spectrum. On a scale of 0 to 10, where 0 is “not at all populist” and 10 is “very populist”, where would you place each of the parties in your country?

Party Name	Not at all populist						Very populist
	0	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
A. Perú Libre Free Peru (A)										X
B. Fuerza Popular Popular Force (B)							X
C. Renovación Popular Popular Renewal (C)									X
D. Avanza País Go on Country – Social Integration Party (D)		X
E. Acción Popular Popular Action (E)								X
F. Juntos por el Perú Together for Peru (F)					X
G. Alianza Para el Progreso Alliance for Progress (G)						X
H. Podemos Perú We Can for the Progress of Peru (H)											X
I. Partido Morado Purple Party (I)		X

6c2: How many countries experts/national collaborators have assisted in the classification of parties on the above scale? 2

6c3: We encourage collaborators to provide any further specific or relevant information (if applicable) regarding the above classifications which might help users of the data understand them to a greater extent. This information will be included in the CSES codebook. Please fill in below.

Many parties in the presidential election assume an anti-establishment discourse, criticizing old parties and economic elites. This was the case of Perú Libre from a leftist perspective. Also, this was the case of Podemos Perú, from a demagogic platform. Renovación Popular was also populist from a conservative approach. This party emphasized a moral discourse, framing a catholic conservative Peruvian people. Fuerza Popular also had an anti-elite discourse, but this party was not successful, given their presence in the congress in the past. Avanza País and Partido Morado, give a technocratic platform, far from populist proposals.

The runner-up candidate, Keiko Fujimori, stated on June 7h, 2021 that a “fraud” was committed in several polling stations in rural areas in the country. She argued that this was the reason of the victory of Pedro Castillo. Fuerza Popular, Fujimori’s party, presented 945 requests of invalidity (pedidos de nulidad) to eliminate vote counting in these polling stations. These requests were presented to the National Electoral Jury (Jurado Nacional del Elecciones – JNE). They alleged the presence of fraudulent signatures, faulty electoral records and electoral records with suspicious results (where Fuerza Popular gained very few of none votes). The JNE decided most of the requests were unfounded and declared Pedro Castillo as president.

Even after JNE decided, some rightist leaders, allies of Fuerza Popular, asked a hearing to the secretary of the OAS (Organization of American States). They wanted the OAS implements an audit of electoral results. They did not get this request.

In response, Pedro Castillo supporters also started their own mobilizations.
